Frances Pew Hayes was a wife, mother and woman with diverse interests only outmatched by the measure of her goodwill. Mrs. Hayes was a pioneering force of philanthropy in our community, which continues to benefit lives through the work of such institutions as The Education Foundation of Collier County, The Conservancy of Southwest Florida, The Naples Philharmonic Center for the Arts, Moorings Park, Youth Haven, and Hodges University where she was heralded as The Humanitarian of the Year in 2002. To celebrate and honor the extraordinary life and legacy of this Neapolitan icon, Hodges University has established the Frances Pew Hayes Center for Lifelong Learning at Hodges University. Mrs. Hayes’ passion for people, community stewardship, and leadership in initiatives involving healthcare, the arts, education and care for older adults will forever resonate among the values fostered in the Frances Pew Hayes Center for Lifelong Learning.

Who We Are

Mission and Philosophy

The Frances Pew Hayes Center for Lifelong Learning (CLL) was established by Hodges University and local leaders in 1996 as the first lifelong learning program in Collier County. The CLL provides quality, year-round educational programs to adults in the community at a reasonable cost. The CLL is a member-directed, multigenerational learning community that invites participants to experience diverse, collaborative, life-enhancing intellectual and social activities. The broad-based curriculum includes stimulating discussion groups, lectures, field trips and workshops in current events, the arts, literature, economics, the environment, health and wellness, philosophy and spirituality, creative writing and much more. An affiliate of Road Scholar, the CLL is part of a national network of lifelong learning institutes.

Thank You

We would like to extend our gratitude to both the membership as well as the instructors who have dedicated so much of their time and energy to the Frances Pew Hayes Center for Lifelong Learning (CLL).

The passion and insights that our instructors, members and volunteers bring to this program are valuable assets in instituting a direction for the program and allow us to continue to create unique and engaging learning opportunities for the community.

We are excited by the variety of opportunities that lie ahead, and we would truly like to create an atmosphere that reflects this aspiration.

Thank you for your involvement with the Frances Pew Hayes Center for Lifelong Learning. We are honored to continue to incorporate the passion and ingenuity of our membership into the CLL program and look forward to the next stage of the journey.

Sincerely,

Lorenzo da Ponte, Mozart’s Librettist
Dr. Ron Bowman

Monday, July 6th, 1:00 – 2:30 p.m.
Lorenzo da Ponte was born in a poor Jewish ghetto outside of Venice but rose to the priesthood in the Catholic Church. Due to his romantic life, he landed in Vienna as a librettist for the Emperor Joseph II of the Hapsburgs and met Mozart who was desperately in need of an artistic collaborator. Da Ponte’s adventures brought him eventually to the United States, becoming an outstanding and influential Italian-American. Classical Italian literature and music were the foundation for a most amazing life.

Identity Theft and Medical Identity Theft
Carrie Kerskie

Thursday, July 9th, 10:00 – 11:30 a.m.
This course will provide an overview of the problem of identity, examine the myths surrounding identity theft as well as specifically focus on medical identity theft.

The Deferred Action for Parental Accountability (DAPA) program
Dr. Maldine Beth Bailey

Monday, July 13th, 1:00 – 2:30 p.m.
For thousands of Florida’s undocumented workers, the threat of deportation is, at least temporarily, behind them. On November 20, 2014, President Barack Obama announced that the U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS) would not deport certain undocumented parents of U.S. citizens and parents of lawful permanent residents (LPRs). The president also announced an expansion of the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) program for youth who came to the United States as children. Under a directive from the secretary of DHS, these parents and youth may be granted a type of temporary permission to stay in the U.S. called “deferred action.” These programs are expected to help up to 4.4 million people, according to the Department of Homeland Security; approximately 300,000 in Florida.

Sustainability and Technology
Tracey Lanham

Thursday, July 16th, 10:00 – 11:30 a.m.
Reducing our carbon footprint is essential in order to preserve our natural resources and support our thriving ecosystem in the Southwest Florida region. Understanding how technology is used to support the solutions that will provide sustainability in our area and how we can best utilize these technology resources will help us to create a brighter future for everyone. In this session, we will discuss ways that technology is currently being used in sustainability efforts and how each of us can make a positive impact by reducing our own carbon footprint.

Wilderness Florida… Through My Lens
Mike Sullivan

Monday, July 20th, 1:00 – 2:30 p.m.
Take a virtual tour of the South Florida wetlands with an experienced tour guide from Orange Jeep Tours. In this class, participants will learn about the habitat, its current state as well as the undisturbed natural beauty, tucked away in the Florida Everglades, far from where the eye can often see.
Mass Communication and Culture
Tom Pear
Monday, August 17th, 1:00 – 2:30 p.m.
Culture is constructed and maintained by communication. In preliterate cultures, culture was maintained by story tellers who passed important cultural information down to younger generations. The mass media has become the story tellers of the modern cultures. For example, Hollywood continues to produce movies about World War II, but in a decade or two these will be the ways in which this war is known to future generations as there are less and less survivors to tell the story. Culture becomes ultimately responsible for passing these stories down to the next generation and mass communication is the medium through which these stories will be told.

Walking in Anne’s Shoes
Cindy Gomez
Thursday, August 20th, 10:00 – 11:30 a.m.
In this class, participants will take a “web walk” through the experiences of Anne Frank based on her diary. This class will include a 3D interactive tour of the home where the families hid in Amsterdam. The program will also include historic footage of the Bergen Beelen Concentration Camp where Anne Frank was sent.

Woodstock
Carlene Thissen
Thursday, September 10th, 10:00 – 11:30 a.m.
What drew a half million people together in 1969 for three days of peace, love and music? In this presentation, Carlene traces social and political events that led to Woodstock, the music inspired by those events and how those songs, in turn, inspired the movements. Carlene also shares her personal memories of the festival and songs that take us back, make sense of how it came to be and challenge us to continue to change the world.

Nathan Bedford Forrest, Untutored Military Genius
Dr. Ted Childress
Monday, September 14th, 1:00 – 2:30 p.m.
In 1861, this uneducated, but successful businessman in Memphi enlisted in the Confederate Army as a 39 year-old private soldier with no military experience. Three years later, he was a lieutenant general, feared by his enemies and respected by all as the most successful cavalry commander on either side in the War Between the States. His fame was tarnished by unproven claims of war crimes by his enemies, but his accomplishments on the field of battle are still studied today.

Terrorism
Colonel (R) A. Beermann
Thursday, September 17th, 10:00 – 11:30 a.m.
In this lecture, we will explore the strategy behind terrorism on both domestic and foreign levels. Our speaker will challenge the commonly held notion that there is a distinction between the two and use his unique experience in the field to shed light on previous acts of terrorism in our recent military history.

Latin American Series South American Culture: Part I
Adriana Buitrago
Monday, September 21st, 1:00 – 2:30 p.m.
South America is the world’s fourth largest continent in terms of landmass and is fifth in population. Home to twelve distinctly different sovereign states - Venezuela, Ecuador, Peru, Brazil, Colombia, Paraguay, Uruguay, Guyana, Suriname, Bolivia, Argentina and Chile - it also encompasses French Guiana, the Falklands Islands, the Lesser Antilles as well as Trinidad and Tobago. In this lecture, participants will learn more about the range of natural wonders, historical sights, astounding wildlife and pulsating local life of Colombia.

Latin American Series South American Culture: Part II
Adriana Buitrago
Thursday, September 24th, 10:00 – 11:30 a.m.
Join us for the second lecture in this series as we explore the various cultural aspects of Peru.

Allegory and Art

Leisha Klentzeris

Tuesday, July 7th, 1:00 – 2:30 p.m.
An allegory is a representation beyond the literal meaning of an object or character; symbolic figures, actions, imagery and/or events are used to convey a moral, spiritual, and/or political message. Although allegory is more often associated with literary works like Animal Farm, it is used in the visual arts as well. In this session, we will identify and discover allegorical representation in art from Hellenism to Modernism.

Solar Ready

Jennifer Pellechio

Wednesday, July 8th, 1:00 – 2:30 p.m.
Solar Ready Florida is a collaborative effort to improve and expand the solar market in the Tampa Bay and Southwest Florida regions. Led by the Tampa Bay Regional Planning Council (TBRPC) and the Southwest Florida Regional Planning Council (SWFRPC), Solar Ready Florida strives to implement solar best management practices, training materials and additional proven implementation strategies. Together, with support from our local governments, Solar Ready Florida will achieve more streamlined and standardized solar practices, resulting in measurable improvement in the area's solar market conditions.

The Art of Jane Austen in Pride and Prejudice
Mary Lou Williams
Thursday, July 9th, 1:00 – 3:00 p.m.

There is a mystery about Jane Austen: why is she still so popular after 200 years? One of the reasons is the dynamic between the hero and the heroine in each of her six novels. This dynamic is entirely different in each novel. All her books are about courtship, but within this context, she never repeats herself. She creates great characters, not only in her heroes and heroines, but in her subordinate characters as well. She creates great scenes. We will explore these aspects of her art in her most famous novel Pride and Prejudice and see some of the most famous scenes from the 1995 BBC adaptation of that novel.

Culture of the Middle East: Part I
Colonel (R) A. Beermann
Tuesday, July 14th, 1:00 – 2:30 p.m.

Join us for part one of this two-part series where participants will learn about the complex cultural issues in the Middle East through the eyes of retired Colonel A. Beermann. We will explore the region through the lens of military involvement with the people, the religions, and how shifting borders contribute to the challenges.

The History of Ethics: Greece and Rome
Dr. William Cooney
Wednesday, July 15th, 1:00 – 2:30 p.m.

In this lecture, we will explore the history of ethics beginning in Greece with such thinkers as Protagoras, Socrates, Plato, Aristotle, and Epicurus and the Roman Epicurus.

Our Florida Government: A Primer for Collier County Voters
Sandy Parker
Thursday, July 16th, 1:00 – 2:30 p.m.

Arthrex Field Trip
Friday, July 17th, 10:00 – 11:30 a.m.

In this tour of the Arthrex's corporate headquarters, which is located in Naples, Florida, visitors will find a vibrant atmosphere of rapid product innovation, medical research and surgeon collaboration. The sprawling campus houses corporate and manufacturing operations, as well as Arthrex's premier Medical Education Center, which serves as an education destination for surgeons from around the world to learn about new products and techniques through hands-on surgical skills training programs.

Participants must sign a confidentiality agreement prior to the tour. This is an active walking tour of a large manufacturing facility. Walking shoes are required.

Location: 1370 Creekside Blvd, Naples, Florida, 34108

Participants will meet at the INC main entrance.

Culture of the Middle East: Part II
Colonel (R) A. Beermann
Tuesday, July 21st, 1:00 – 2:30 p.m.

Join us for part two of this two-part series where participants will learn about the complex cultural issues in the Middle East through the eyes of retired Colonel A. Beermann. We will explore the region through the lens of military involvement with the people, the religions, and how shifting borders contribute to the challenges.

The History and Conflicts of Radio and Television
Dr. Joseph Donahue
Wednesday, July 22nd, 1:00 – 2:30 p.m.

The development and establishment of radio and television, from AM to FM and from black and white to color and high definition, are major events in the history of television and radio. This lecture will highlight these events and participants will learn from a notable expert in the field.

Emotional Intelligence
Dr. Ali Wolf
Thursday, July 23rd, 1:00 – 2:30 p.m.

Emotional Intelligence can be defined as an individual's ability to understand the emotional world of themselves and others while utilizing emotional information to guide thoughts and behaviors. This presentation will help attendees understand what EI is, how to measure it and how to develop it more fully in themselves. Discussion and activities will be utilized to best understand how to utilize EI in everyday interpersonal interactions.
Wikileaks

Michael Rodriguez

Tuesday, July 28th, 1:00 – 2:30 p.m.
Explore the controversy and motives of Wikileaks, the enigmatic group that publishes leaked secret documents, emails, videos and other evidence of alleged misconduct by governments and companies. We will seek answers to the following questions: Is Wikileaks a security threat or a public service? How does it impact the globe? How does its rise tie into broader concerns about hacking, surveillance, and Internet security?

Mythbusters

Carlos Padilla

Wednesday, August 5th, 1:00 – 2:30 p.m.
Is it better to leave a computer on or turn it off after each use? Can I damage my computer speakers if I turn them up to full volume? Debunk some of the most common myths about the technology you use every day. Get answers from Hodges University’s own in-house expert, the director of Information Technology Services, and be sure to bring some of your own questions for the extended question and answer period.

Mary Cassatt and Edgar Degas: The Relationship of Two Great Artists

Dorothy “Dottie” Magen

Thursday, August 6th, 1:00 – 2:30 p.m.
Was the relationship between Cassatt and Degas a friendship, rivalry, or love affair? Were they simply confreres with a passion for art? The answers to these deeply personal and intimate questions lie in their art. Join us as we try to unravel the true nature of their relationship.

Tour the Historic Palm Cottage

Tuesday, August 11th, 10:00 – 11:30 a.m.
Field Trip
At the corner of 12th Avenue South and Gulfshore Boulevard sits an exquisite example of Naples authentic charm, Historic Palm Cottage™. Under the preservation of the Naples Historical Society, the Palm Cottage™ house museum lets visitors experience the rustic, hand-crafted charm of Old Naples through guided tours where trained docents share unique insights, historic facts and colorful tales about this local architectural gem and the community surrounding it.

The oldest house in Naples (built in 1895) is constructed of tabby mortar, a hand-made concrete consisting of sand, shells and water. This two-story home was built by one of Naples founding residents, Walter N. Haldeman, and boasts 3,500 square feet of original and donated artwork, furnishings and tools spanning over 100 years.

Stress 101: Balancing the Hormone Havoc and Rebuilding the Engines  Debra Post
Thursday, August 13th, 1:00 – 3:00 p.m.
Stress is an exponentially increasing part of life as we age both physically and mentally. Few understand how our bodies respond to the daily reality of survival, and many do better than others it seems. This lecture will look at the mechanisms of stress and how our body does and doesn’t adapt well and how to optimize healthy stress adaptation.

Meditation  Renee Newell
Thursday, August 13th, 3:30 – 5:00 p.m.
Meditation is different things to different people. Yet, in all traditions, meditation is about going inside and becoming more aware of yourself. In this brief introduction, we will explore “sitting” and the monkey mind. You will become aware of just how busy your mind is and how difficult it is to focus on one thing. I will give you several suggestions on how to change the mind’s habit of jumping from thought to thought. With practice, the mind will choose a more gentle way of living. Please join us if you wish to discover a path to peace.

STEM Education and Technology  Tracey Lanham
Tuesday, August 18th, 1:00 – 2:30 p.m.
STEM education is rapidly changing with the influx of new technologies and the availability of affordable resources. Integrating emerging technologies into the STEM educational curriculum is essential for learners to succeed in a dynamic technology driven environment. In this session, we will discuss new innovations in technology and how they impact STEM education and the learning environment.

The Telling of Naples History  John F. Mayer, Jr.
Wednesday, August 19th, 1:00 – 2:30 p.m.

CLL Ambassadors Needed
CLL Ambassadors act as assistants to the instructors, helping to ensure that announcements are made, equipment is set up and handouts are distributed. They also assist with sign-ins when required and answer questions for new members. Ambassadors are essential to the smooth functioning of the CLL and enjoy the benefits of becoming better acquainted with both faculty and fellow class members. If you would like to volunteer to be a class assistant in one or more of your classes, please contact the CLL office at:
239-598-6133 or cll@hodges.edu
